24th November 2011

Dear Parents/Guardians,

Industrial Action Wednesday 30th November 2011

Regrettably the planned strike action by teaching unions, that is taking place next week, will have an effect on St Marylebone. Fortunately, with the co-operation of those who will not be here next week, we have been able to plan in advance to keep the school open for as many as we can safely operate.

The list below indicates which year groups we can accommodate.

- Year 7: In all day from 8.30am to 3.30pm
- Year 8: In all day from 8.30am to 3.30pm
- Year 11: In for period 1 to 4 only: 8.30am to 12.40pm
- Year 13: In all day (We will inform pupils separately of any lessons cancelled)

Unfortunately that means there will be no school for Years 9, 10 and 12. Many of their teachers will set work for them in their absence so that they can continue with some useful learning activities whilst not in school.

We can only apologise for the disruption this will cause to you as parents and the pupils’ learning, but these matters are beyond our control.

School will be open as normal for all pupils on Thursday 1st December at 8.30am.

Yours faithfully,

Jon Hunter
Deputy Headteacher
